Dear Friends,

I have been afraid looking down from the top of PK Pass in the Pioneer Mountains, approaching Black Creek Rapids on the Main Salmon River in a raft, and even driving across Trail Creek Summit with the ridge dropping away from the car window. The rugged terrain of central Idaho often prompts us to summon our courage.

But the biggest terrain that demands the most bravery, always, is the landscape of our own minds. Do we have the courage to look beyond what we already know, to ask a question, to listen to another point of view? Are we willing to risk changing our minds? Think of the wonders we might behold if we are brave enough to lean – to read! – into them.

Yo he tenido miedo mirando de la cima de PK Pass en las montañas Pioneers, abordando los rápidos Black Creek en el río Main Salmon en una balsa, y aún atravesando por la cumbre de Trail Creek con la cadena cayendo de la ventana del coche. El terreno escarpado de Idaho central nos induce a ser valientes.

Pero el terreno más grande que exige el mayor de valor, siempre, es el paisaje de nuestras propias mentes. ¿Tenemos el valor de buscar en la frontera de lo que sabemos, cuestionar, escuchar otro punto de vista? ¿Estamos dispuestos a arriesgar cambiar de opinión? Piensen en las maravillas que contemplaremos si tenemos el valor de verlas, de leerlas.

NEW Exhibits

Hemingway in Comics Library Foyer August-November 2021

The exhibit is an exploration of what it means to be a pop culture icon, and how that image can change over time. Ernest Hemingway casts a long shadow in literature that also extends into comic books. He appeared in comics alongside Superman, Mickey Mouse, Captain Marvel, and fought fascists with Wolverine. The exhibit celebrates more than 30 of these comics from publications around the world. The original artwork and published magazines will be on loan from the collector, Robert K. Elder.

Rugged Glamour: A History of Early Sun Valley Promotions Regional History Museum June-December 2021

This new exhibit explores the early marketing of Sun Valley and the allure that was created to attract elegant clientele. Painting it as a new destination that was both glamorous and rugged took clever advertising skills. The advertising pros, Steve Hannagan and Dorice Taylor, got the message out with style. On display will be the vintage promotional Sun Valley posters, films, photos, and brochures from the 1930's through the 1950's.

NUEVAS Exposiciones

Hemingway en los cómics Vestíbulo de la biblioteca agosto-noviembre 2021

La exhibición es una exploración de lo que significa ser un ícono de la cultura pop y cómo esa imagen puede cambiar con el tiempo. Ernest Hemingway proyecta una larga sombra en la literatura que también se extiende a los cómics. Apareció en los cómics junto a Superman, Mickey Mouse, Captain Marvel, y luchó contra los fascistas con Wolverine. La exhibición celebra más de 30 de estos cómics de publicaciones en todo el mundo. La obra de arte original y las revistas publicadas serán prestadas por el coleccionista, Robert K. Elder.

Duro glamoroso: una historia de las primeras promociones de Sun Valley Regional History Museum junio-diciembre 2021

Esta nueva exhibición explora el mercadeo temprano de Sun Valley y el atractivo que fue creado para atraer a una clientela elegante. Pintarlo como un nuevo destino que era a la vez glamoroso y escabrosa requirió habilidades publicitarias inteligentes. Los profesionales de la publicidad, Steve Hannagan y Dorice Taylor, transmitieron el mensaje con estilo. Se exhibirán carteles, películas, fotografías y folletos promocionales antiguos de Sun Valley de los años treinta a los cincuenta.
